

Change Management training and certification

Overview

Our Change Management courses, developed in partnership with the Change Management Institute, are designed to help organisations and their people plan, implement, and effectively manage the impact of change.

Course Durations

Training and certification are available at Foundation and Practitioner levels. Foundation courses are typically 3 days and Practitioner courses a further 2 days. The examination/s are usually completed at the end of the course/s.

Exam information

- Foundation: Multiple choice format (40 minutes, 50% pass mark)
- Practitioner: Objective-testing based on a case study scenario (2.5 hours, 50% pass mark)

Target Audience:

- Aspiring or current change agents.
- Project and Programme Managers.
- Business Leaders, looking to cultivate or lead change.
- Communications, HR and Training Professionals who are often involved in organisational changes.

What is it based on?

A Study Guide accompanies the Change Management courses and is exclusively available to learners enrolled in the Change Management Certification program.

Courses provide individuals with the knowledge and techniques to:

- Draw from a range of professional approaches to implement change smoothly and effectively.
- Unlock resistance to change.
- Provide effective support and motivation to individuals and teams.
- Identify and engage with key stakeholders throughout the change process to gain support.
- Speed up the implementation of change programs.
- Highlight their contribution as change professionals to initiatives.

Why choose APMG's Change Management Certification?

- While other popular courses focus exclusively on one approach to structuring change management, APMG's Change Management courses enable learners to apply any change methodology effectively. The courses are agnostic about the methodology used, focusing on helping learners build a firm foundation of change management knowledge, principles, and practice.
- Change Management Practitioner certification is also accredited and recognised by the United Kingdom Accreditation Service (UKAS).
- All trainers, materials, and organisational processes have been thoroughly assessed by APMG to ensure quality training.
- These qualifications offer a pathway to accreditation by the Change Management Institute.
